Our Management Team

TONY LAKIER - PRESIDENT

Tony has served as RedMane president since founding the company in 2000. He has more than 20 years of executive management experience in the IT industry and has provided leadership and oversight for hundreds of projects throughout his career. Prior to founding RedMane, he ran the Chicago office of SPL Worldgroup, a global software development company.

Tony lives in Deerfield, Illinois and has a passion for cycling.

COLIN MICHAELIS - EXECUTIVE

Colin is a RedMane co-founder with years of experience in all aspects of application systems delivery, from investigation through to implementation. He mentors and trains RedMane and client staff on all aspects of software development projects, including project management and system design. Prior to RedMane, he worked for 13 years with Tony at SPL Worldgroup as the Director of Application Development.

Colin lives in Libertyville, Illinois, and when not in his office, he is usually out and about with his camera, pursuing his interest in photography.

BILL RUETH - EXECUTIVE

Bill is a RedMane co-founder with decades of experience building systems. He can be aptly described as a "delivery guru" and has designed, developed, and delivered systems for a broad spectrum of industries using a wide range of technologies. Prior to RedMane, Bill spent 10 years delivering systems with Tony and Colin at SPL Worldgroup.

Bill lives in Largo, Florida—the perfect location to pursue his love of golf.
