"We had an extremely aggressive go live date that was not able to move and by partnering with RedMane we were able to deliver a new system on-time with extremely robust functionality."

Joseph Joy – SVP-CIO, Health Management Services

At RedMane, the real work and satisfaction starts when we apply our services to practical effect in specific business domains, bringing to bear our expertise, experience, and tried-and-true methodologies to address the business challenges of specific clients—streamlining their operations and enhancing their bottom lines. Regardless of domain, we employ a business-driven design philosophy and take a project-based approach to provide innovative solutions to our clients' problems—thereby making technology the tool of business... not the other way around.

From human services and healthcare to insurance and education, RedMane has the knowhow, experience, and expertise to understand and solve the most complex business issues. We work with our clients to create business-driven solutions that help them operate more efficiently, with improved outcomes and better customer service.

Applied innovation. That's RedMane.
